

Champion Energy Home Services

From Allied Warranty

Champion Energy Terms and Conditions for Allied Warranty Products

You must be an existing Champion Energy Services customer to purchase Allied Warranty services and plans through Champion. In the event that Champion is no longer your electricity provider, Champion will automatically cancel your services with Allied.

Your Champion account information will be used for enrollment in Allied's home services and plans. Your agreement with Allied will start concurrent with your Champion contract start date (new customers) or with your next available meter read (for renewals or for customers adding an Allied contract mid-term), and charges will appear on your Champion bill. Your Allied service plan is a month to month agreement. You can cancel these services at any time without penalty by calling Allied Warranty at 1-866-791-1200.

Champion Energy Services is not affiliated with Allied Warranty, LP or the home services and other plans it markets. Champion bills Participating Customers for such home services and other plans for Allied solely as a convenience to Participating Customers. Participating Customers shall look solely to Allied Warranty, LP for claims related to the home services and other plans. Champion will not be responsible to Participating Customers for any such claims. Champion will apply all payments received from Participating Customers first to amounts due Champion under their electric service agreement.